Discover Stories of Love, Murder, and Revenge When Life and Death at Fort Howard Opens at the Neville

Green Bay, WI---April 11, 2016---Life and Death at Fort Howard opens this Saturday. This exhibit, in recognition of the 200th anniversary of the founding of Fort Howard, features tales of life, love, murder, and revenge at the fort.

In this exhibit visitors can explore the stories of Green Bay's nineteenth century military post, Fort Howard, told through rare artifacts, maps and hands-on interactives. It was here, along the shores of the Fox River, where officers, soldiers, and civilians laid the foundations for the community that became Green Bay. Discover the tales of life, lost love, murder and revenge in Life and Death at Fort Howard.

The Neville will also offer a variety of Fort Howard-related programs including:
